Short Answer/Essay Questions

25. What are the differences between emotional intelligence and intelligence quotient?

Emotional intelligence (EQ) refers to a form of social intelligence that involves the ability to monitor one's own and others' feelings and emotions, to discriminate among them, and to use this information to guide one's thinking and actions. This is different from intelligence quotient (IQ) in that IQ measures intelligence based on a score derived from intelligence tests. The other main difference between the two is that IQ is stable over a lifetime, while EQ can grow and develop over time.

Moderate

26. Define the four main components of EQ.

Self-awareness refers to a person's ability to understand their feelings from moment to moment. Self-management refers to our ability to manage our emotions and is dependent on our self-awareness ability. Social awareness is our ability to understand social cues that may affect others around us. Relationship management refers to our ability to communicate clearly, maintain good relationships with others, work well in teams, and manage conflict.

Moderate

27. Mention ways to increase one's social awareness.

Increasing social awareness means to observe others' actions and to watch people to get a good sense of how they are reacting. We can gain social awareness skills by learning people's names and making sure we watch body language. Living in the moment can help our interactions with others as well. Practicing listening skills and asking follow-up questions can also help improve our social awareness skills.

Short Answer/Essay Questions

64. What are the aspects of the SMART philosophy?

SMART philosophy includes goals being specific, measureable, attainable, realistic, and time-oriented.

Easy

65. How can a goal can be made realistic? Explain with the help of an example.

Students' examples may vary.

The goal that is set must be something one is willing and able to work toward. The goal cannot be someone else's goal. For example, earning a business degree because one's parents want one to may not be compelling enough to follow through with that goal. The goal should be realistic in terms of one's abilities and willingness to work toward the goal. If Kyra decided to be a WNBA player, this is probably not a realistic goal for her. She is too old; is five feet two inches tall, and not really willing to put in the time to get better at basketball. She would most likely not be able to achieve this goal.

Moderate

66. Mention some tips to time management.

Tips to time management include:

Learn how to prioritize.

Avoid multitasking.

Make to-do lists.

Don't overwork yourself.

Be organized.

Understand your work style.

Don't say yes to everything.

Find ways to improve concentration.

Moderate

67. Give four reasons why people resist change.

Students may give any four of the reasons given below.

There are many reasons why people resist change.

1. People are afraid the change will affect the value of their skills.
2. People are concerned about financial loss.
3. Status quo is easier.
4. Group norms exist.
5. Leadership is required.

Moderate

68. Explain the phases people experience when a change occurs.

When a change occurs or is occurring, people are likely to experience four phases associated with that change. First, they may experience denial. In this phase, they do not want to accept the change nor do they want to move on to the future. In the resistance phase, people may feel angry or hurt. They may wistfully think about how great things were before the change. In the third phase, exploration, the person may begin to accept the change but with some reservations. In this phase there may be confusion as people start to clarify expectations. In the commitment phase, people have accepted the change, understand how they fit with the change, know how the change will affect them, and begin to embrace it.

Fill in the Blanks

77. Having _____, or knowing our strengths and weaknesses, is a way of improving our chances for career and personal success.

self-awareness; Easy

78. _____ means one may have to let go of an old way of doing something that may have worked for a long period of time.

Unlearning; Easy

Short Answer/Essay Questions

79. What is continuous learning? How does it help improve our chances for career or personal success?

Continuous learning involves the process of constantly trying to update skills and learn new ones. This shows high emotional intelligence in the area of self-awareness and self-management (“I know I need to learn this new skill to be more valuable to my employee or to be more productive in my personal life”). Having self-awareness, or knowing our strengths and weaknesses, is the first step in improving our chances for career and personal success. Once we are aware (self-aware) of our weaknesses, we can better choose areas in which we would like to learn.

Moderate

80. Explain unlearning with the help of an example.

Students’ examples may vary.

Unlearning means one may have to let go of an old way of doing something that may have worked for a long period of time. For example, Parelli Natural Horsemanship program requires training participants to start from square one when learning how to train their horse. The idea is they need to “unlearn” their old ways of training their horse in order to become effective at the sport. So no matter if someone has ten years of experience with horses or zero years, everyone goes back to basics.
